EX-ARMY OFFICER GIVEN TWO YEARS FOR THEFT

Charged with larceny by means of worthless checks, Arvid E. A. Azelius of Wakefield, a former lieutenant in the army, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment today by Judge Creed in the Municipal Court. Azelius is a linguist of some note. He appealed and was held in $5,000.

According to the charge, he opened an account with the Metropolitan Trust Company with a check for $500 drawn on a West Point, Ky., bank, later drew on this account and obtained merchandise from two stores with checks on the Metropolitan Trust Company. The West Point bank reported "no funds."

Evidence showed that when Azelius was in the army, stationed at Camp Knox, Ky., he was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and dishonorable discharge for a similar offence. The case came before the President, who executed the order for discharge, but reduced the prison sentence.

Azelius has a wife and three children. Mrs. Azelius is suing for divorce. The case was in the hands of Councilor George Farrell.

OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE

FROM

SIMON SWIG, VICE-PRESIDENT TREMONT TRUST CO.

Dear Friends:

How many savings banks have been fair with their depositors?

Under the laws they could have paid 5% interest on deposits. Yet they paid as little as possible until trust companies like the Tremont Trust Company forced most of them to increase interest payments. Even now they are not paying the interest that they should pay.

When the Tremont Trust Company can pay and is paying 4½% interest to savings depositors, and on top of that pay satisfactory dividends to its stockholders, then savings banks, which have no stockholders and therefore no dividends to pay, can surely pay a greater amount of interest than they do. It must be remembered, too, that these savings banks have built up large surplus funds which they loan out and earn interest on, but on which they pay no interest.

Moreover, if the Tremont Trust Company can pay interest monthly at the rate of 4½% and can permit withdrawals at any time practically without loss of interest, then savings banks which in many cases pay only once in six months and in other cases only once in three months—but never monthly, are in a position to pay more than the Tremont Trust Co. But they don't do it.

When the Tremont Trust Co. can pay 4½% to its savings depositors and permit withdrawals at any time practically without loss of interest, then savings banks and other trust companies which penalize withdrawals between interest days by the loss of interest, even though they earned on such deposits while they remained in their possession, are in a position to pay more than the Tremont Trust Co. But they don't do it.

The difference between the Tremont Trust Co. and most savings banks and most other trust companies is that the Tremont Trust Co. pays to its savings depositors all the interest it possibly can, while most other financial institutions pay their depositors as little interest as they can.

When a savings bank proclaims that it is paying 4½% interest it does not mean exactly that; it means that it is paying 4½% only on that money which has remained in the bank during the entire interest period. It has paid no interest on many thousands of dollars withdrawn within the interest periods and of course pays no interest on the millions of dollars in the surplus funds, although the bank has earned money on them. The percentage paid out in interest on the money that was actually on deposit in the average savings bank will not exceed 2¾% to 3%, and not 4½%. It all depends upon how you figure it.

The Tremont Trust Co. expects shortly to announce the payment of 5% interest on savings deposits. It earned and collected last month an income sufficient to pay that rate. As soon as this income is regularly assured, then that rate will be paid.

Depositors have the power to secure adequate interest payments in their own hands. Let them demand the interest that should be paid them. If banks through adherence to moss-bound custom will not pay what is their just due, then let depositors place their money in any amount, in person or by mail, with the Tremont Trust Co., whose interest payments will keep step with its earned and collected income.

SIMON SWIG, Vice President Tremont Trust Company.

STORROW BELIEVES POLICE SHOULD NOT AFFILIATE WITH A. F. OF L.

Chairman of Citizens' Committee Gives Reasons in Statement

James J. Storrow, chairman of the citizens' committee named by Mayor Peters, made the following statement [illegible] today:

"I have accepted the Mayor's request to serve as chairman of the citizens' committee somewhat gratefully, because I had planned next week to begin a much needed vacation [illegible]

HAVE RESPECT OF CITY.

"I do not see any objection to the police officers affiliating themselves with any organization not [illegible] organization so that they can put their case forward to [illegible] stand on the slightest objection has been raised to this.

"I am also certain that the citizens of Boston hold them in high respect [illegible] and will continue to and assist [illegible] Chief Curtis and Commissioner Hodges in every way [illegible] hours of duty [illegible] Sarbenton [illegible] incident to their duties.

"The permission of the American Federation of Labor during the war, under the lead of its president, Samuel Gompers, cannot be questioned for one moment.

"I have stated it repeatedly, and I repeat it again with all emphasis in my power, that the government, administration of labor [illegible] Wilson, and all the agencies of the American Federation of Labor stood [illegible] for the principle of collective bargaining [illegible] and strongly [illegible] Samuel Gompers [illegible] finally.

"I have also stated further that in the public interest of all [illegible] to settle the points of difference between labor [illegible] representatives of the Police Union [illegible] and [illegible] and negotiations [illegible] to them for adjustment. In no one single instance [illegible] interference [illegible] to side in any [illegible] and [illegible] the other [illegible] stood behind them.

HAVE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE.

"The right of the working men of this country to create and maintain labor unions for their own betterment and advancement cannot be questioned. They have [illegible] been one of the most potent factors for the advancement of mankind ever conceived, particularly by the rank and [illegible] men. It is quite some years ago [illegible] official printed report [illegible] elevated railroad administration stated that it was altogether [illegible] to the credit of the men to waste a moment in discussing the right of the elevated employee to organize a union.

"Now we come to the question of whether our police should [illegible] from the American Federation of Labor and become an independent organization.

"It has given a good deal of thought to this most important and most sympathetic consideration. I am incapable of expressing. I have also [illegible] of the entire report [illegible] what appears to be the viewpoint of a large number of [illegible] the police officers of Boston. I have [illegible] enough and seen enough of men to learn by this time that a man is a man and that a little extra [illegible] of education or of this or that are very little [illegible] all these fundamental questions.

ATTENDED MANY TRIALS.

"I cannot help remembering that [illegible] was a young police officer, often walked into one of our criminal courts and sat through a trial. [illegible] are sometimes would be one [illegible] in the affair [illegible] important witnesses would generally [illegible] the defendant against the [illegible] What the [illegible] witnesses said did not as a rule amount to much and, [illegible] it [illegible] a case of [illegible] in the street, the officer whose case [illegible] busy [illegible] his lawyer and getting him away from the scene of the [illegible] to line up the other people present.

"Sometimes the alleged defendant and the officer would be the only witnesses of any consequence, and [illegible] the court must plainly rely on the statement of the officer as the only unbiased man, and resolve the flat contradictions in favor of the officer and reelect the defendant accordingly.

"In like manner if both parties to the assault were present the case would [illegible] about the same. Each man would say he was defending himself and that the other attacked him and the word of the officer settled which one of them went to jail and which one got off scot free.

"Most of our citizens see our officers performing their duty in the street, [illegible] do not think of the vital part of their daily [illegible] performed in court as an unbiased and impartial officer or the man engaged in deciding whether a man shall be sent to serve a sentence or allowed to go home.

"Many strikes have been carried through a finish without a vestige of violence.

VIOLENCE IN STRIKES.

"But, on the other hand, we have [illegible] and have known that, as a rule, strikes violence does crop out. It is the exception when assaults and destruction of property are carried on with either the encouragement or connivance of [illegible] of the union. But under the excitement and [illegible] of a strike [illegible] heads [illegible] what the order heads and the responsible officers of the union deplore. Sometimes it is [illegible] injury and over-zealous friends of the strikers who make the assaults. Again, the [illegible] can [illegible] so far as to threaten bodily injury to innocent parties [illegible] no connection with the strike.

"I do not question the good faith of the police officers in [illegible] that in a strike in which the American Federation of Labor is involved they can preserve an absolutely judicial and unbiased attitude between those who are their fellow members of the American Federation of Labor and other members of the community who are not.

"But, indeed, I have lived too long to feel I can suffer be subjected to special bias or sympathy for one or the one side of a controversy and then be sure it has no effect on my views and actions.

"A man cannot always tell when he is being perfectly fair. We have all seen lots of men who we knew intended to be absolutely fair in their statements of [illegible] and yet it has been as plain to us as Bunker Hill Monument they were not.

NO JUDGES' UNIONS.

"I think every man in Boston would agree that it would not be proper for our judges to join a labor union. For hundreds of years justice has been depicted as holding the scales with eyes blindfolded. This has not been an idle thought.

"It means that every single man [illegible] sufficiently civilized to establish courts of law, the [illegible] consensus of opinion demanded that the [illegible] of our tribunals should operate without partiality, and as near as is humanly possible without a tinge of bias for one man, or against another.

"But any man who thinks that our judges should not become affiliated with a labor organization must, so far as I can see, reach the same conclusion in regard to the police officer.

"The police officer is engaged [illegible] the administration of the law as [illegible] judge. He is a part of it. His [illegible] in sending the right or guilty man [illegible] is often [illegible] that of the judge.

"It is reasonably conclusive [illegible] proposition that the police must necessarily [illegible] the judge should [illegible] and free [illegible] of any [illegible] or [illegible] with [illegible] of what happens must weigh [illegible] with the judge and significantly [illegible] the [illegible] of fact [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] and

POLICE DRAGNET OUT FOR THE ABDUCTOR OF SOMERVILLE GIRL

SPIRITED AWAY IN AUTO

Second Alleged Attempt to Carry Ruth Milliken Off in Car Proves Successful

Continued absence from her home of Miss Ruth Milliken, seventeen years old, the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude E. Milliken of No. 28 Illinois avenue, Somerville, made neighbors and friends to believe that she was abducted in broad daylight on Monday, in the vicinity of Bowdoin square, and is now being held against her will.

The police of Boston and surrounding cities and towns have been notified and are combing the country for the missing girl. Miss Milliken is employed at Schlesinger & Sons, Further Company in Faneuil Hall market.

SAW GIRL IN SCOLLAY SQUARE.

A young woman friend, Miss Milliken, who also is employed in the market says that she saw the Somerville girl in Scollay square about 11 o'clock Monday morning, and as she left the latter she noticed a man on the street a young man dressed neatly in automobile attire, alight from a car at the curbing, grabbed her by the arm, and thrust her into the motor car and then drove rapidly away.

Last week Mrs. Milliken and her daughter were guests of Charles V. Knightly, secretary of welfare work at the Y. M. C. A. at the camp near New Bedford.

Saturday night, according to Knightly, a young man friend, John Dixon, of Savannah, Ga., drove up to the camp in a car, inviting the Milliken girl to another ride.

Dixon, according to Mr. Knightly, has been discharged from the army because he contracted some disease during his two years' service in Texas.

At the time of Dixon's arrival at the camp, Mr. Knightly declares, Miss Milliken was not receiving the attentions of the young man, and was not anxious to take Dixon and a friend for a ride. Knightly says that Dixon insisted that the girl accompany him, and when refused by the girl, he pleaded her, Knightly says, and tried to persuade her mother to let her go. The girl refused and her mother was in favor of her refusal. Finally Dixon was driving away with Miss Milliken, and Knightly says that the girl's mother and he ran after the car and caught it, removing the girl from the machine.

KEPT HOME FOR WORK.

In trading the information to Boston police, Knightly says that Dixon told him that he would come to Boston about two weeks ago in an effort and explained to get the girl to go with him. Knightly says that he might get some trouble here, she agreed to put on a disguise to escape the watch of Schlesinger & Sons. Mrs. Milliken would not permanent, and to this she consented.

Monday morning, according to Dixon, a car in the employ of Miss Milliken drove up to the camp and took her home at about 9 o'clock, with the understanding with her mother that she would call for her from school and not leave there until she received permission. This was the last time her mother saw her.

IRELAND STRONGER FINANCIALLY THAN BRITAIN, SAYS WALSH

DECLARES BRITISH EMPIRE IS LIKE CRUMBLING SHELL

New York, Aug. 28 — "The British Empire today resembles a crumbling shell, ready to collapse at any moment."

This was the statement of Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the American Commission on Irish Independence, to a Boston American representative before he started for Washington ostensibly to appear before the Senate Advisory Committee in the interests of the cause of Irish freedom.

"Ireland today is a stronger nation financially, politically and industrially than Great Britain," declared Mr. Walsh. "Ireland is not bankrupt. Ireland is able to feed its own people and has a large surplus for export. Ireland exports one-fourth of its agricultural products.

Mr. Walsh reiterated his warning that England is about to offer "bait" to the Irish people so as to gain the support of American Jews, who are easily duped and willing to meet the Irish demands. He firmly will fire a message to Americans that they must not be deceived again, and that England's commission just sent to America is but a subterfuge. He also referred to the fact that the Irish will soon be in the position to refuse to buy goods from England, and that Ireland will soon be in a position to become a manufacturing country herself.

Mr. Walsh declared that the commission sent to America by the Irish Legislative Assembly is the only representative commission that has ever come to America.

Like Ireland, Australia rules itself, and is a glaring example of how perfectly self-governing countries are treated by England under the British Empire.

Furthermore, Great Britain is holding Egypt, just like Ireland, in violation of the principles of the proposed League of Nation's covenant. Egyptians are being governed against their consent, and Great Britain has forced the British flag upon their heads. Great Britain has left Egypt and told the world she has no protest that country from Paris. Her investment of Egypt is announced to be only temporary, as was it?

India is another example of Britain's "trust." Mr. Walsh said. "And again this amounts to this that the world has become a big, vast (including German Africa) and

Another interview with Frank P. Walsh will appear in the Boston American tomorrow.

CRITICIZE MAYOR ON AWARD OF CONTRACT

Favoritism Shown Nawn Company on Arlington Street Station Job, Is Charged

That favoritism has been shown the High Nawn contracting Company in awarding the contract at $9,000 for preliminary wiring in the construction of the Arlington street station of the Boylston street subway, is charged at City Hall and Mayor Peters is being severely criticised.

Criticism against the mayor is directed on this because, it is said, the contract was awarded without bids on a cost-plus-percentage basis. This method has been the subject of severe criticism on the part of the finance commission ever since its existence. It has gone on record time and time again as being opposed to the city awarding such contracts. Up to the present time, no report has been made by the commission on this contract, despite the fact that the Nawn company has been at work since August 15, although the contract was not approved by the Mayor until today.

OTHER CONTRACTORS PROTEST.

The transit commission was previously criticised for awarding contracts on this cost-plus-percentage basis. A contract made on that basis for the construction of the Cambridge tunnel was investigated by the district attorney's office in addition to being severely criticised by the finance commission. At that time it was charged by Frederick Elliot, one of the contractors that the cost of the tunnel was exorbitant.

A contract made on that basis allows a contractor full payment for all expenses incurred by him in the prosecution of the work and provides an addition a percentage for his profit. Not only is it said, does such a contract allow for labor and supplying him with all materials for his work, but pays him a ten per cent. profit besides.

General contractors say the Nawn company has been awarded the Arlington street station contract and a similar building.

Chairman George Fitzpatrick of the finance commission under today's date of August 28 has not addressed a letter to his organization but that it is in fact a report contrary to the investigation.

"NECESSARY TO ACT."

In approving the contract without asking for bids the Mayor declared that "to comply with the provisions of the law it became necessary to begin the work of construction before full plans could be made."

Section 7 of the act authorizing the construction of the station reads that "the commission shall make plans for after the passage of this act make such preliminary investigations, surveys and plans as may be necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of this act, of

Rosenthal and Brennan Face Federal Prosecution on Liquor Sale Charge

Federal prosecution of Harry Rosenthal, proprietor of the Hotel Imperial, and Edward Brennan, now of the cafe, began today, when both men were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes, charged with selling liquor without a Government or Internal Revenue license.

Their waived examination and were held in $1,000 bail each for the action of the United States District Court. The case grew out of a raid by both State and Federal officials on August 9, when liquor worth $14,000 was confiscated.

Brennan already had been convicted on two counts in Municipal Court of violating the prohibition law. Rosenthal and Abraham P. Levi, proprietors of the Hotel Imperial, were each fined $150 and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction on three counts charging sale of liquor without a license. The sentences were suspended, but each month was sentenced to six months and a $100 fine for illegal possession of liquor. All three appealed.

Danger Lurks In Summer Foods For Babies

EVERY mother knows the evil effects of summer heat on cow's milk. This danger is equally great in all foods unless carefully kept in a cool place away from insects.

Bad food loses its nourishing value, it causes constipation and diarrhea. These are at best always troublesome the summer over. They disturb the mind and lessen the joy of living, and cause more serious illness.

The first precaution is to see that the foods are regular and normal. In the case of babies and children be sure that twice a day at least the bowels are moved freely. If more than three times a day, diarrhea. A remedy is then needed that will regulate and tone the bowels, sweeten the stomach and relieve constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is that remedy. It is a simple vegetable laxative that makes it safe for the youngest baby or the most delicate invalid to take.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin can be obtained at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter is the family size. A free trial bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 460 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

URGES CAUTION IN ACTION ON POLICE CASE

Both Sides Asked to See "Right to Happiness" Before Making Decision

Urging both sides to postpone action until they have seen "The Right to Happiness" at the Majestic Theatre, the management of this photoplay today sent the following letters to Commissioner Curtis and the heads of the Police Union:

To Mr. Edwin U. Curtis,
Police Commissioner for the city of Boston.

Believing that at the time you receive this letter you are making up your mind regarding your decision as judge of the charges against members of the Boston Police Department, and believing that in view of the great issues at stake you are anxious to reach your decision only after having considered the issues from as many possible viewpoints as may be by means of earnestly and urgently inviting you to witness a performance of "The Right to Happiness" before settling any determination?

At first glance this may seem to you to border on effrontery, to suggest that a motion picture can have any bearing on the momentous question. But the fact is that the theme of this colossal picture is based upon the causes of the world-wide social and industrial unrest, of which the situation now confronting you, etc., is but a single manifestation, and although the drama is by no means confined to the depiction of conditions, facts or an either attorney or radicalism would have them, but on the contrary the story offers a solution for such problems which may be of some assistance and which cannot fail to be of exceptional interest to you at this present time.

BOY FOR COMMISSIONER.

In a matter involving the business well-being, property and even, perhaps, the lives of so many persons, nothing which will help in solving the problem should be overlooked. It is to the firm belief that you, sir, will be glad to see any picture that may throw the truest possible light on the problem before rendering a decision.

We will appreciate your reply being sent to us when it will find it convenient to come to the box office to be held for you. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "THOMAS H. SHEA,"
Manager of the Majestic Theatre.

To the President and Executive Boston Police Union.

Unless current information is wrong, you now must consider the question of taking action in regard to the police commissioner's stew on our manifestation, which may finally result in a strike of the police of the city of Boston. Under the circumstances, in view of the enormous issues at stake, may we ask that before you strike a blow at the public you will see one of our guests, The Right to Happiness? And, in so doing, add us in arranging a special performance of this unusual film production, in order that each member of the union of your members may see it before definitely committing themselves to any position?

What bearing can the motion picture have upon the present situation that merits our sober consideration at this critical time, you will doubtless ask. This remarkable play is based upon the world-wide social and industrial unrest of which your situation is a manifestation. It is no propaganda, as it tells why there are such things as strikes, the factors arising from them, and how those in power may avoid them. It contains information which may be of invaluable aid to you gentlemen and your comrades in guiding your footsteps safely and wisely, and will fail to be of the most timely interest.

As good citizens and protectors of law and order with a most enviable record for courage and efficiency, we believe that the police officers of Boston are anxious in the present matter to overlook nothing which will aid them in solving their problems with the most steadfast American line, and it is in consequence of this belief, confident that we extend an earnest invitation that you may see the production at once.

Awaiting your reply, telling its word, which will best suit the convenience of yourself and your comrades, we are

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) "THOMAS H. SHEA,"
Manager of the Majestic Theatre."

Do You Know Your Own Business?

If you own shares in a business do you want a Government employe to tell your executives how to run your business?

If you are a loyal employe, do you want a political appointee to have the power to injure your concern by hampering its operations or by interfering with its efficiency?

Perhaps you have noticed the effect of Government control on the railroads, telegraph, and telephone.

Bills have been introduced to license and regulate the packing industry—perhaps your business will be next.

You would probably dislike to have this happen to your business even more than you would dislike to have your daily supply of meat interfered with.

LONG ADVOCATES YEAR'S PAY FOR VETERANS

Would Repeal $5 Poll Tax and Make Wealthy Bear Burden

A years pay for ex-service men, good roads into farming communities, and public ownership of street railways were advocated today by Hollis R. Long, Democratic candidate for the governorship nomination. Before his address on the subject of values Long attended to his political duties at Oxford and delivered an address.

He said that good roads, which he would invest a million of state money, would afford in many places a fifty per cent reduction in the cost of transportation to market. Referring to the soldiers' bonus he declared that $100 was a pittance, and that families of disabled soldiers in hotted doing well a few years will repay the state by the $5 poll tax, the full amount.

Mr. Long advocated in addition to giving a yearly pay to service men, the repeal of the $5 tax and the appointment of a tax to pay this with a graduated income tax, upon large incomes of the wealthy.

He said that the high cost of living had vastly strengthened the Bull-Weeks law by making it necessary for the state to solve its own present failure problems, and declared that there should be no more delay in the matter of the Boston subway extension. He said that the state should be interested in the development of the port of Boston, and that the state should own the docks and terminals, and lease them to the railroads, instead of the railroads owning them as at present.

Mr. Long declared that the state should own its own power plants, and that the Commonwealth Power Corporation should be abolished.

SENATOR NICHOLS HAS A NEW NINE-POUND SON

SOLDIERS SERVICE BUREAU

TELLS VETERANS SACRIFICES ARE APPRECIATED

Leaders Look to Them to Steady Ship of State, Declares Bartlett

Governor Bartlett said:

"At this old shrine of patriotism dedicated to the memory of the living and dead, are gathered now in glorious comradeship you who fought under Lincoln and Grant and Sherman, and you who fought under McKinley and Roosevelt, and you who have just returned from the awful cataclysm on foreign soil.

"Your hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our faith triumphant over our fears, have been with you from the matchless service through which you have gone and from which you have come to serve again your state.

"Whatever may be said by anyone to the contrary, let no one cause you for a moment to believe that the home folks are not glad to see you, glad to welcome you and glad to do for you. Glad in their power to show their appreciation of you and your heroic service.

"Most of us made promises to you and souls when you were going, and those promises we made unto you while you were away. Practically all are ready and willing to keep these promises in this spirit of exalted service. Those who are not may answer to their consciences and to the rebukes of public opinion.

PROTEST NOMINATIONS OF TWO CANDIDATES

Protests against placing certain names on the ballot for primaries were heard today by the ballot law commission. William E. Harvey protested the nomination of Maurice N. Abrahamson for representative on the ground that he was still in military service. Abrahamson entered the discharge would be forthcoming as soon as the papers could be made out. David Mannocta protested the nomination of Thomas F. Coffey, Jr., as Democratic candidate for the House. James L. Dalton, John H. Dean, Charles B. Simonton and James E. Carley, whose names appeared in the nomination paper, testified that the signatures were not theirs. The validity of the signatures of George Greenler, George H. Carter, James W. Parrott and Edward McDonald was also attacked.

Brookline Pageant Today

Because of the rain yesterday afternoon, the monster pageant, "History of the Gardens," to be given by more than 1,000 children of the Brookline playgrounds at Brookline Field, Brookline, was postponed until 2:30 this afternoon.

A Tailor Bird

A TINY yellow bird in India makes a most curious nest. To escape snakes and monkeys it takes a dead leaf and with fibre and its bill for a needle sews it to a green one hanging from the tree. The sides are sewed up, an opening being left at the top. The leaf would never be taken for a nest.

Stocks Strong in New York at Noon; Advance at Opening; Trading Quiet

STEELS HIGHER, EQUIPMENT A FEATURE

Crucible Led the List for Gains; Baldwin Also Climbs

By W. H. ROSS
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in the early trading at the opening of the market yesterday, and the gains were extended throughout the session. Steels, equipments and coppers were the leaders in the upward movement, and the advances were fractional to more than 3 points.

Crucible Steel was the most outstanding feature, rising 3 points to 120, a new high record for the year. Baldwin Locomotive was also conspicuous, selling up 2¾ points to 106¼, while Lackawanna Steel, Republic Iron and Steel, Central Foundry, Pressed Steel Car and Standard Milling were among the other gainers of 2 points or more.

Coppers were in demand, Utah Copper selling up 1¾ points to 70¾, Kennecott 1¼ to 34¼, Chino 1 to 34¾, Ray Consolidated ¾ to 20¾, and Inspiration ¾ to 57¾. Mexican Petroleum was also in demand, selling up 2¼ points to 164¼.

Oils were irregular, Texas Company selling up 1 point to 151, while Pan American B dropped 1 point to 97. Mexican Petroleum, Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Coast, Pure Oil and Sinclair Oil & Refining were also lower.

Foreign exchange was firmer, sterling quoted at $4.75 for demand and $4.72 for cable transfers.

PRICES ADVANCE AT OPENING.

The market had a strong start, prices advancing at the opening. Trade was a shade better, but there was a disposition to sell a point or more higher on first transactions. Here and there professional American operators and Wooden Indians, General Motors, Kelly Springfield, Mexican Petroleum, Texas Company, Texas Pacific, United States Steel, Utah Copper, Timken Steels, oils and standard rails were active as well as higher. Gains ranged only a point or two. Crucible Steel attained a new record high, and other specialties and those that were most active. There recovery was regarded as temporary, operators evidently preferring to sell into the strength rather than buy on it. Gary newspapers reported that during the first half-of-the month ending 11½ to 13¾ orders that normally go to Pittsburgh and Youngstown were diverted to Gary on account of the four points within thirty minutes.

TRADING BROAD AND ACTIVE.

There was broadening in early trading and the market as a whole was active and firm. Sentiment was described as extremely bullish. Bears sought to cover, demand for stocks was more general, and interest than for a week or so. The Steel strength contributed to some extent. Strength of the market was surprising in view of the unsettled situation.

Not a few market observers felt, however, that the market had gotten a number of shocks from this source and that it would not sustain a great deal that might not happen. Speculation during the morning was mainly professional, and a boom was more significant because of the opening of stocks in an extremely high trading position. It was evident that liquidation is complete and that stocks are in strong hands. Advocates of the theory that short interests belief obtains that short covering has reached the most meaning stage and that an improvement may be expected.

LAWRENCE BARS CELLAR BAKERIES

Lawrence, Aug. 28.—With a view toward preventing better sanitary conditions in bakeries in the city, the Local Board of Health has refused to grant a permit to John Kishman, a former baker, to reopen his place on Valley street, which was ordered closed by the board several years ago. It was stated that there were to be no more cellar bakeries in this city.

Fishman told the board that he had ordered out tenants in order to secure more room to use in his proposed bakery here. The board members criticised him for evicting the tenants. "There are plenty of bakeries in Lawrence," said Chairman Murphy, "but tenements are scarce."

Sues for Son's Insurance

Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—Daniel Florness of River Falls has filed suit in Federal Court here, alleging he has not received one cent of the $10,000 war risk insurance of his son, Laurie Florness, who died on November 7, 1918, in military service at Camp Shelby, Miss. This is one of the extremely rare instances where an individual may sue the government.

Get Correct Understanding Before We Discuss This Matter

We are going to have a lot to do with Russia in political and business ways, and we ought not to be as ignorant of Russian conditions, when the time comes to decide what our relations will be, as we were of all things European when we formulated our policies toward the great war.

One common confusion of understanding particularly needs clearing up.

That is the confusion of the terms Bolsheviki and Soviets. Too many people who ought to know better speak of the Bolsheviki party and the Soviet system of government as though they were the same thing—and condemn Bolshevism and Soviet government as identical theories.

This is all a mistake. It is as ridiculous to Russian ears as it would be ridiculous to American ears to hear that the Republican party and representative system of government in America were synonymous.

The Republican party, when in power, does indeed follow the representative system of government commanded by the Constitution. But so, of course, does the Democratic party.

Just so, the Bolsheviki party, while it is in power, operates under the Soviet system of government. But if another liberal party overthrew the Bolsheviki, it would also continue to use the Soviet system. If it did not, it would soon be expelled by the Russian people, who are passionately devoted to this system of representation, and will be, no matter what party is in power.

There are thousands of Russians who bitterly hate the Bolsheviki and yet ardently love the Soviet system. And there are some Bolsheviki who are by no means warmly attached to the Soviet system—though most of the Bolshevik (which means majority) party, in common with the masses of Russia, do prefer this system.

It is quite possible that there may yet be a Soviet government in Russia in which there will not be a single Bolshevik; and, again, there might be a government composed wholly of Bolsheviki and refusing to use the Soviet system of representation.

It is no small matter that all of us Americans should understand the difference between the political system called Soviet and the political PARTY called Bolshevik which has adopted the Soviet form of representative government.

By the Soviet method representatives in the municipal councils, State Legislatures and national Congress are elected by occupational groups, instead of by GEOGRAPHICAL groups, as is our custom.

The difference between occupational groups and geographical groups of voters is this:

In our country, and in most others, all the voters living within a certain territorial limit, whether a ward, a county or a State, vote for representatives from that territory. For instance, you and everybody living in your district vote for a congressman from that district; you and everybody living in a State vote for Governor and Senators from that State. In each case, the voters form a geographical group.

But under the Soviet plan, the lawyers vote for representatives from the lawyer class, the doctors vote for representatives from their group, the carpenters vote for representatives from the carpenter group, and so on and so on. Each class of workers, whether brain-workers or hand-workers—professional salaried men or farmers or day laborers—vote for representatives of their own OCCUPATION.

That is voting by occupational groups. Each occupational group is entitled to representation based upon the proportion of the total number of voters engaged in that occupation to the whole number of voters.

The results claimed for this system are that every class of citizens is always represented in the legislative bodies by men who are identified with that class and can speak intelligently of its needs and be depended upon to look after its interests—and thus labor and capital and its associates are automatically given full proportional representation in making the nation's laws and policies.

That is all the Soviet means. It does not mean Socialism or Communism, or any particular doctrine or policy. It is merely a form of popular representation in government.

You ought to get this distinction clear in your mind. It is a vital distinction, and no man can rightly understand what goes on and will go on in Russia as long as he confounds Bolshevism and Sovietism and innocently looks upon the two as the same thing under different names.

We know no intelligent Americans who believe in the Bolshevist system of government—not for America, at least.

The Anglo-Saxon race is individualistic. It chooses leaders and adopts ideas by supporting leaders who stand for the right ideas. The Russians are much more co-operative by nature. They work through groups, rather than through individuals.

It is only by first understanding that we can afterward sensibly discuss any matter. And as we are all bound to have to discuss Bolshevism and Sovietism for a long time to come, we ought all to try to inform ourselves about these two different matters, so that we will know what we are talking about.

MAKING CHILDREN WORK FOR SPENDING MONEY

You are worried because your children seem to have so little idea of the value of money, or the earning power which it represents, and yet you have done nothing to impress this lesson.

Why should a child not spend freely and thoughtlessly the money which has never cost it more than the asking for it?

There is only one way to teach youngsters to be careful of their expenditures, and that is by making them earn or work for their spending money.

And don't pay too liberally or you won't impress the lesson you wish to convey.

Paying a child a quarter for work which may be done in one hour gives the youngster the wrong impression.

The child who must work an hour for a dime will appreciate it much more than he would if he could procure it in half that time.

By K. C. B.

BARABOO, Wis., Aug. 16.

DEAR Mr. K. C. B.—As I sat on my porch and read your "gossip" in today's paper I was reminded over so clearly of the minister's little girl, Della Miller, who was an invalid.

All day long she sat in her wheel chair, and I would go over to see her and take the paper with me and read your column to her. She, as well as other little ones who were always gathered around her chair, grew to know you and like you very much. And I want you to know that when I failed to appear she missed it so.

I often wonder if the people in large cities where there is so much doing enjoy your writings like we do in small towns.

Little Della passed away one year ago, and I have help thinking of her as I read your column today. Very sincerely yours, 529 Fifth Street. CATHERINE V. BACKETT.

MY DEAR Mrs. Backett:

WITHOUT ANY apology
FOR PRINTING your letter
I'M GOING further,
AND I'M going to tell you
THAT AS I sat here
AND READ your letter
IT BROUGHT to my mind
THE "LITTLE Jim" ward
OF THE Children's Hospital
IN SAN Francisco,
WHERE TWO score children,
LAY QUIET all day,
AND QUIET all night,
IN PLASTER casts,
AND STRAPPED to boards,
AND I used to go there
AND I knew them all
AND THEY knew me,
AND ONE afternoon
I TOOK Harry Houdini,
THE "HANDCUFF King,"
AND HE took little rabbits
RIGHT OUT of my hat
AND A basket of candy
FROM A green sack
AND SILVER dollars
FROM A little boy's ears
AND HE made them laugh
SO THAT one little girl
TOLD ME later on
SHE HAD laughed so much
IT HAD cracked her cast
AND ANOTHER day,
I TOOK up a band
AND THEY sat around
ON THE little white beds
AND ONE little kid
HAD THE drummer man
AND ANOTHER kid,
HAD A trombone man
AND ALL over the ward
EACH CHILD had a man
RIGHT THERE on his bed
AND HOW they played!
THOSE BIG band men!
AND SOME of them cried,
AND I'M telling you this,
IN SPITE of the fact
THAT SOME poor soul
WILL RISE up and say
THAT I'M bragging again,
AND MY answer is,
THAT ONE Sunday night,
I BRAGGED like this,
FROM A church platform,
AND THE very next week
A DOZEN men,
TOOK A hundred orphans
ON A grand picnic

THANK you.

CASTING THE SHADOW

The Summer kid begins to gloom
Disconsolate he spies
The cloud of school and study room
Athwart vacation skies.

WHADDAYA MEAN "DEADLY"

Samuel Cox of Lynn, oldest Mason in this State, has just entered upon his 101st year. He admits having been a steady user of tobacco, but advises young men "to steer clear of the deadly stuff."

OH, DEATH, WHERE IS THY STING?

The National Association of Masters of Dancing views with alarm the habit of girls in dancing of putting their arms farther and farther around their partners' necks. The dancing masters fear, perhaps, lest the men dancers may be choked if this neck-encircling movement is not stopped.

HAZARDS OF A GLOBE-TROTTER

Just as the tourist trade is picking up, the discouraging announcement comes from Paris that the Algerian ankles are the most sensational ever, and that women's skirts are to reach only a little below the knees.

"IF A BODY MEET A BODY"

Professor Edwin H. Hall of Harvard, the first man to volunteer for an emergency police force in Boston, is described in headlines as "long a student of falling bodies." In turbulent pre-"wet" times a policeman had to be an expert in falling bodies. Wartime prohibition has not eliminated acts of violence, however. Some burglars, bandits and such are quite nifty in the "falling body" line.

HOW TO GROW IN NEWTON

Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton gave a good motto to the little girls graduating from the playground courses of that city. He gave them the word "grow." Then he amplified it by saying that the four letters of the keyword signified: Go Right On Working.

CHEER UP NOTE

Ora One, the millinery master, announces at the fashion show in Jordan Hall that women's hats will be more expensive this Fall than ever before.

QUIET SHOULD HAVE KEPT SO

Georges G. Quiet, the renegade Frenchman, who denounced Nurse Edith Cavell to the Germans in Belgium, is on trial at Paris for treason. Georges will wish he had paid more attention to his last name.

OUT OF STEP

Police circulars are out for George Waltz, who escaped from the State Prison camp at North Reading three months ago and who has been dancing just out of reach of the law ever since.

HOW DO THEY GET THAT WAY?

Massachusetts savings bank deposits increased $54,504,270 during the eight months ending June 30, 1919. Some are able to save, despite the high cost of living.

IS THE HUMAN RACE TO BECOME DWARFS?

Interesting Treatise in Next Boston Sunday Advertiser

MANY years ago this earth was inhabited by a race of beings of gigantic stature—real giants. The Bible is authority for the statement—the book of Genesis clearly declares that "there were giants in those days." And today science confirms the fact.

And science has finally formed the astonishing conclusion that every form of life on earth, including man, began in littleness, grew until it reached an apex of gigantism, and is now again on the downward grade, perhaps toward Pygmyism. In other words, savants believe that in the course of time the human race, as well as every other form of life, will shrivel and shrink in size, until it is much smaller than at present. We are to become a race of dwarfs.

There are hundreds of examples which show the slow processes of different species from minute forms of animal life to the early giants of prehistoric geologic periods—and their subsequent shrinking to the lizards and crocodiles of today. In the same way man, once a pygmy, attained giant size for a time, and today can boast a measure six feet or more.

The next Boston Sunday Advertiser magazine section contains an extremely interesting article explaining why scientists have been led to believe these facts and others equally interesting.

American business men do not as a rule allow themselves to be victimized for very long without taking steps to curb their losses. Last Sunday the Sunday Advertiser published the first of a series of articles dealing with the work of a band of criminals who prey upon department stores and exclusive clothing shops in many of the big cities.

Next Sunday, in the second instalment, the author deals with some of the protective measures which have been taken by the big stores.

Some of them maintain systems of private detective bureaus almost as elaborate, and perhaps more efficient, than those which guard the safety of the cities themselves. The stores are full of them in every guise—as customers, clerks, porters, even as cash girls.

Yet even these careful preparations are not enough to prevent clever thieves from gaining their objects every day in the week. But you will be interested to know the way in which the store guards operate.

Be sure and read this series weekly in the Sunday Advertiser.

For next week's cover the Magazine Section will have the third of a series of "Mid-Summer Romances" by Howard Chandler Christy—the most beautiful of the series so far. The couples are, as usual, the best in the city. Read them in next Sunday's Boston Advertiser.

Merchant Marine in War

Editor Boston American:

Do you think that marine sailors have not been treated fair, and I don't think you or the public know all about it. They did no small share towards winning the war. Long before we entered the fight the merchant sailor was carrying food and ammunition to the allies, and we all know of the fate of some of their ships.

Then when war was declared the Navy took all the good ships and armed them, while the slow, unarmed, poorly equipped ones were left for the merchant mariners.

Naval officers would soil their clothes on these dirty old ships and it was dangerous to go to sea in them, but the merchant mariners never complained. When they enlisted they were told it was just as much a branch of the service as the Army and Navy, and although every man that enlisted in this branch was shipped to sea in six weeks for hard work, as the merchant boats carried small crews, about one-third the size of the Navy crews on a boat of the same size.

Yet this man when he gets his discharge does not get the $60 bonus nor the $100 from the State and is ineligible to the American Legion. During the war his uniform was a joke to the U. S. N. R. F. boys, many of whom had fat jobs ashore. Now the latter and the Yeomen (F) are among those getting the best of it. Whatever you may say for the merchant marine will be greatly appreciated.

Two Wonderful Dogs
Why We Dance

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1919)

The British Fortnightly classes Japan and America, with Germany a weaker third, as a menace to British industries and trade. The "extraordinary efficiency of highly paid American labor" and the "rapidly growing ability of low wage Japanese labor" worry the British writer.

The nations having stopped killing one another, now begin a war of labor competition. American employers and capitalists should remember that labor must be well paid and contented. And labor must remember that "extraordinary efficiency" and the highest possible production are demanded for the sake of the country as a whole, and for the sake of the workers especially.

Every mechanic has heard his labor leader say, "Labor produces everything." It does not, far from it. The brain that invented the sewing machine produced more sewing in a few hours than a hundred million seamstresses with needles only could produce in centuries.

But this is sure: Labor produces all that labor gets. And labor now demanding more than ever will have to produce more than ever or go without. One worker, on the average, exchanges his day's work for another man's day's work minus the middleman's and employer's profit. A worker gets paid with another's work for one day's work of his own. Small day, small pay.

Sir John Sebright and Lord Erskine possessed dogs of extraordinary intelligence. Each bet the other that his dog within twelve months would learn a trick more wonderful than any trick learned by the other dog.

Lord Erskine's dog took a roast oyster out of the fire without burning itself. Sir John's dog carried a glass of wine without spilling a drop, to any gentleman indicated. The London Chronicle republishes this story:

Rich men have trained hawks and hounds to fly and run, horses to jump, elephants to kill criminals.

Curiously enough, they have never interested themselves much in training of that most intelligent of all animals, the young human child. Consider what Lord Erskine and Sir John might have done had they picked out two children as carefully as they selected the two dogs to give them as careful training.

In Berlin the poor that have no homes will be sent to live in unoccupied rooms in big houses of rich people that have small families. That is one recent proposal for solving Germany's housing problem. They are building a million houses for returned soldiers also, at government expense.

In the American cities magnificent houses are empty all Summer, not far from great American slums where children crawl around in dirty gutters.

It will not be suggested seriously in this country that the miserably poor be allowed to live in the houses that are empty. And that would not be the way to solve the problem. It must be solved by lifting up, not pulling down.

But if such a plan were seriously suggested, with power behind the suggestion to carry it out, how quickly the prosperous would find the right way to solve the housing problem; how quickly they would tear down the slums, and rebuild them properly; how quickly suburban villages would rise with adequate transportation facilities to take care of the women and children that need room to live.

The United Dancing Masters have decided that the government should regulate all dancing steps. That particular kind of social aesthetic movement called "shaking the shimmie" is compared by the dance professors to brandy among drinks, cocaine among rum-sellers.

Dancing, especially violent dancing, has enabled human beings for more than a hundred thousand years to express emotion that they could not express in any other way.

It must be remembered that the human race needs to let off steam.

It is better to have it dancing "the shimmie" than sulking, with its feelings bottled up. The things that human beings do in expressing their emotions publicly with, our restraint are usually less harmful than the things to which they may be driven in secret.
